School for Inventing Stories, how can I help you?
A curious student has enrolled at the school where the unusual Gramáticus is a teacher; there is a blackboard full of secrets, different colour chalk, black and white pictures, and unexpected objects. Learning consists of imaging stories through games that were presented by the writer Gianni Rodan in his book The Grammar of Fantasy, after working with children for many years.
From the beginning Pez Luna has focused on stories as the literary pillars of its projects. The manipulation of hand-made objects and the use of ephemeral materials created on the spot are its trademark. Many of their shows reflect on the process of creation, the moment one confronts the blank page. An actress, a visual creator and an eclectic composer.
