Who has never dreamed of taking a bite of the moon? That is the dream of this story's animals. All they want is to taste a little piece, but regardless of how much they stretch, they still cannot touch it. This is a story of wishes that at first glance seem unattainable, like the Moon, but that come true thanks to collaboration and mutual aid between a large variety of animals. Halfway between a fable and a legend, this story offers a poetic moral lesson that speaks of generosity, solidarity and shared dreams. José Diego Ramírez is a model in shadow theatre who advises and teaches future puppeteers devoted to maintaining this special form of story-telling, of activating the imagination of children and adults. This is the only shadow theatre company of Andalusia.
