Augurios stems from the authors' passion for classical theatre and the search for new formulas to bring plays to the stage, and is a personal reflection on war, freedom and violence. The story is set in the framework of the Trojan War, the most theatrical of all literature. In Augurios, Cassandra confronts the anger of Apollo, who casts a spell on her when she decides, after receiving the gift of divination, not to surrender to the god, as agreed. Apollo shows her the destiny of her family, her people and her own life, putting her in a difficult situation on learning about the terrible war that is approaching: to give in or be free.
T&T Creaciones is a project created by Sergio Rubio and Pedro Hofhuis, whose productions are based on artistic quality, a strong social commitment and a predilection for contemporary Andalusian authors. An exciting project, endorsed by the careers and awards of its creators.
