"An autobiographical story of the feeling of dancing feet that fly aimlessly. A danced reflection that starts with flamenco, unfolds with tap dancing and experiments with the combination of everything that the journey offers". Manolo Supertramp

After his adventures in theater, Manolo Supertramp focuses on training, which he combines with his theatrical activity since 2003. He was trained in Malaga as a flamenco artist for eight years, followed by another twelve years in tap dancing, a genre in which he was initially self-taught. What started being just a hobby would open the doors to Billy Elliot, el musical and El jovencito Frankenstein, for which he was also a tap dance teacher for the company. He finally settled in Malaga with his group Claqué - Malaga, where he currently works as a teacher. Tapicotap is the second show of Cía & Manolo Supertramp.
